

NATIONAL ADVERB DAY

Exercise 2 - ANSWER KEY

Directions: Correct the 5 mistakes in the letter that Hank sent to President Obama.

Dear Mr. President,

As you know, January fourteenth is National Adverb Day. Punky says that this is the most important day on your agenda. Bearing this in mind, I hope that you will consider a ~~real~~ really good suggestion. Please make National Adverb Day an official holiday. That means that kids will have a day off from school.

Please tell Congress to decide ~~quick~~ quickly and only the kids that do ~~good~~ well on it can get the day off. I think that kids will take adverbs more ~~serious~~ seriously if you act now. It has been an honor to serve you.

Sincerely,

Hank

P.S. Excuse me for any errors in this letter. I wrote it ~~real quick~~ really quickly.
